TOOLBOX

Google Fonts

FONT SQUIRREL

It's okay to use just one typeface per page! If you want more, limit to 2 typefaces.

Choose the right typeface according to your website personality:

- 👉 Choose the right personality for your website (more on this later)
- 👉 Decide between a serif and sans-serif typeface
- 👉 Experiment with all the "good" typefaces (and other typefaces from Google Fonts!) to see which ones best fits your website's message (this will come with experience)
- 👉 You can keep trying different typefaces as you design and build the page

When choosing font-sizes, limit choices! Use a "type scale" tool or other pre-defined range

USE GOOD FONT SIZES AND WEIGHTS

When choosing font-sizes, limit choices! Use a “type scale” tool or other pre-defined range

Use a font size between 16px and 32px for “normal” text

For long text (like a blog post), try a size of 20px or even bigger

For headlines, you can go really big (50px+) and bold (600+), depending on personality

For any text, don’t use a font weight under 400 (regular)

Use less than 75 characters per line

For normal-sized text, use a line height between 1.5 and 2. For big text, go below 1.5

Decrease letter spacing in headlines, if it looks unnatural (this will come from experience)

Experiment with all caps for short titles. Make them small and bold and decrease letter-spacing

Usually, don't justify text

Don’t center long text blocks.

Small blocks are fine

Colors

CHOOSE THE RIGHT COLOR

Make the main color match your website's personality: colors convey meaning!

- Red draws a lot of attention, and symbolizes power, passion, and excitement
- Orange is less aggressive, and conveys happiness, cheerfulness, and creativity
- Yellow means joy, brightness, and intelligence
- Greens represents harmony, nature, growth, and health
- Blue is associated with peace, trustworthiness, and professionalism
- Purple conveys wealth, wisdom, and magic
- Pink represents romance, care, and affection
- Brown is associated with nature, durability and comfort
- Black symbolizes power, elegance and minimalism, but also grief and sorrow

Make the main color match your website's personality: colors convey meaning!

Use a good color tone! Don't choose a random tone or CSS named colors.

FLAT UI COLORS 2

ESTABLISH A COLOR SYSTEM

You need at least two types of colors in your color palette:

main color and a grey color

With more experience, you can add more colors:

accent (secondary) colors (use a tool)

MAIN | ACCENT | GREY

COLOR PALETTE

For diversity, create lighter and darker “versions” (tints and shades)

use your color strategically in images and illustrations

On dark colored backgrounds,
try to use a tint of the background
("lighter version") for text

Text should usually not be completely black.
Lighten if up it looks heavy and uninviting

Images

Different types of images:

Use images to support your website's message and story. So only use relevant images!

Prefer original images. If not possible, use original-looking stock images (not generic ones!)

Experiment combining photos, illustrations and patterns

Method #1: Darker or brighten image (completely or partially, using a gradient)

Method #2: Position text into neutral image area

Method #3: Put text in a box

To account for high-res screens, make image dimensions 2x as big as their displayed size

- 👉 Scale factor: Actual pixels the screen contains / Pixels represented on screen
- 👉 On high-res screens, scale factor is 2x or even 3x, on “normal” screens it’s just 1x (1 physical pixel = 1 design pixel)

Compress images for a lower file size and better performance

Icons

Use a good icon pack, there are tons of free and paid icons packs

Use only one icon pack. Don't mix icons from different icon packs

Use SVG icons or icon fonts. Don't use bitmap image formats (.jpg and .png)!

Adjust to website personality! Roundness, weight and filled/outlined depend on typography

Use icons to provide visual assistance to text

To keep icons neutral, use same color as text.

To draw more attention, use different color

Don't make icons larger than what they were designed for. If needed, enclose them in a shape

😃 Icons were designed for big use: lots of details, thin lines

Shadows

USE SHADOWS WELL

Less shadows → More shadows

SERIOUS / ELEGANT → PLAYFUL / FUN

Use shadows in small doses: don't add shadows to every element!

Go light on shadows, don't make them too dark!

USE SHADOWS IN THE RIGHT SITUATION

Use small shadows for smaller elements that should stand out (to draw attention)

Predictive Insights

Using anomaly detection, Narrative BI's proprietary algorithms generate meaningful insights for the user without the click of a button. Narrative BI uses time-series

Natural Language Processing

Narrative BI speaks your language. Through our patent-pending Natural Language Generation Engine, users can receive insights described in plain English.

Use medium-sized shadows for larger areas that should stand out a bit more

Use large shadows for elements that should really float above the interface

Experiment with changing shadows on mouse interaction (click and hover)

Experiment with glows (colored shadows)

Border radius

Use border-radius to increase the playfulness and fun of the design, to make it less serious

Typefaces have a certain roundness: make sure that border-radius matches that roundness!

Use border-radius on buttons, images, around icons, standout sections and other elements

WHERE TO USE WHITESPACE

Use tons of whitespace between sections

Use a lot of whitespace between groups of elements

Use whitespace between elements

Inside groups of elements, try to use whitespace instead of lines

The more some elements (or groups of elements) belong together, the closer they should be!

Title and text belong together, therefore there is less space between them

Button seems to belong to text block, so it's closer

Start with a lot of whitespace, maybe even too much! Then remove whitespace from there

☝️ Too much whitespace looks detached, too little looks too crammed

Match other design choices. If you have big text or big icons, you need more whitespace

😃 Huge text, lots of whitespace

😃 Small text and images, less space

Try a hard rule, such as using multiples of 16px for all spacing

Visual hierarchy

Visual hierarchy is about establishing which elements of a design are the most important ones

Visual hierarchy is about drawing attention to these most important elements

Visual hierarchy is about defining a "path" for users, to guide them through the page

We use a combination of position, size, colors, spacing, borders, and shadows to establish a meaningful visual hierarchy between elements/components

Position important elements closer to the top the page, where they get more attention

Position important elements closer to the top the page, where they get more attention

Use images mindfully, as they draw a lot of attention (larger images get more attention)

Whitespace creates separation, so use whitespace strategically to emphasize elements

For text elements, use font size, font weight, color, and whitespace to convey importance

What text elements to emphasize? Titles, sub-titles, links, buttons, data points, icons

☝ You can also de-emphasize less important text, like labels or secondary/additional information

Emphasize an important component using background color, shadow, or border (or multiple)

Try emphasizing some component A over component B by de-emphasizing component B

What components to emphasize? Testimonials, call-to-action sections, highlight sections preview cards, forms, pricing tables, important rows/columns in tables, etc.

UX

> *Design is not just what it looks like and feels like. Design is how it works

– Steve Jobs

User Interface (UI) is the visual presentation of a product. It's how the graphical interface looks and feels like

- 👉 Layout
- 👉 "Personality"
- 👉 Typography, colors, icons, etc.

User Experience (UX) is the overall experience the user has while interacting with the product

- 👉 Does the app feel logical and well thought out?
- 👉 Does the navigation work intuitively?
- 👉 Are users reaching their goals?

UI is graphical interface 👉 UI Design is what makes an interface beautiful

UX is experience with interface 👉 UX Design is what makes an interface useful and functional

☝️ UX Design can not exist without UI Design!

UI →

Both are interfaces to get ketchup

UX →

Each creates a different experience

👉 A website or application exists for a reason: a user has a goal for visiting it, and a business has a goal for creating it

EXAMPLE: Designing websites faster

Good UX design aligns the user's goals with the business' goals

EXAMPLE: Selling design kits for design tools

👉 UX Example:

Highlighting an option in the product pricing table:

- 👉 Helps the user decide faster what is the best option ❤️
- 👉 Helps the business maximize revenue 💵

Don’t design complicated layouts. Don’t reinvent the wheel. Use patterns that users know

Make your call-to-action the most prominent element, and make the text descriptive

Use blue text and underlined text only for links!

Animations should have a purpose and be fast: between 200 and 500 ms

In forms, align labels and fields in a single vertical line, to make the form easier to scan

Offer users good feedback for all actions: form errors, form success, etc. [web apps]

Place action buttons where they will create an effect (law of locality) [web apps]

Use a descriptive, keyword-focused headline on your main page. Don't be vague or fancy!

Only include relevant information, efficiently! Cut out fluff and make the content 100% clear

Use simple words! Avoid technical jargon and “smart-sounding” words

Break up long text with sub-headings, images, block quotes, bullet points, etc.

90% of Startups Fail

Here are the most common reasons why startups fail.

I'd like to attract your attention on the top 2 reasons.

> "No Market Need" and "Run Out of Cash".

Those are actually closely related! If a startup is building a product nobody wants they will not get sales and thus will run out of cash.

> So to put it bluntly, most of startups fail because they build something nobody wants. Wow!

But still, a lot of startups raise money from investors. Isn't it a sign that they're on the right track? Well, no…

There seems to be an over-emphasis on money-raising in the startup industry. But raising money does not guarantee success. There are tons of unprofitable startups that raised millions of dollars.

Conclusion

If you have to remember one thing out of this article, it is: TALK TO USERS!

- Talk to users before building
- Talk to users while you're building
- Talk to users after you've built

Somewhere between staring at the screen and tilting my head the magic is done.

I'm Tomáš Sebastián Steinhübel, a digital designer bombarded in Bratislava, Slovakia. Currently, I'm looking for a skilful team to join and learn some new badass skills while creating functional design. Pleased to meet you already.

However through my design journey I've been taught to ignore the nagging self-doubt, shut it down and stop it when needed. Fortunately instead of grumbling I let the free flow happen.

PERKS OF HIRING ME

PERSONALITY 03 – PLAIN/NEUTRAL

📋 OVERVIEW	Design that gets out of the way by using very neutral and small typefaces, and a boxy, structured, and condensed layout
🏭 INDUSTRIES	Well-established corporations, companies that don't want to make an impact through design
✍️ TYPOGRAPHY	Neutral-looking sans-serif typefaces are used, and text is usually small and doesn't have visual impact
🎨 COLORS	Safe colors are employed, nothing too bright or to washed-out. Blues and blacks are common
🌅 IMAGES	Images are frequently used, but usually in a small format
⚛️ ICONS	🤷 Usually no icons, but simple icons may be used
👻 SHADOWS	🚫 Usually no shadows
🟠 BORDER-RADIUS	🚫 Usually no border-radius
🧩 LAYOUT	Structured and condensed layout, with lots of boxes and rows

Every Design Builders home is unique
We design and build one-off architectural homes throughout the North Island. No existing plans, templates, or catalogues; instead, we work with you to create a unique home designed and built just for you, inspired by you.
The homes we create are all different, but they start the same way: with a blank sheet of paper and a client who wants a great original home.
You might think that a home designed and built the way you want is out of your reach, but with Design Builders, you can afford to think differently. Our process is built around you, including your budget.
